

Keep private interest from controlling our media through consolidation. The more voices, the better! Freedom and diversity of opinion cannot flourish when a few major corporations control the majority of outlets from which the public gets its news, opinion and entertainment. Everyone understands this and the public understands that those who would deprive us of that diversity can only be doing so for self serving reasons.